My dearest Mother, French pens do not seem to suit my style, and the ink seems a bit thin.

We left Crocydon to-day at 12.30 and, as we had a strong wind behind us, we were at Le Bouquet at 2.10. Unfortunately it was rather bumpy and both M. and I were a little upset. Nothing much, fortunately. The French have started Summer Time so we had to put our watches on when we arrived.

We left Christoffer
well and already M. is bucking up. Paris suits her temperament, & she likes this hotel. We have the room I had when I was here 2 years ago!

We had dinner tonight in a small French restaurant where the cooking was marvellous but where we had too much to eat!

It has been a lovely day, and we have enjoyed our afternoon.

And so to bed, hoping you are well.

We leave here early on Thursday,

Love from M. who will be writing to you,

Your own son

Harold
